

STRIKE LEADER NOW IN HIDING SENDS MESSAGE

Says Railroad Executives Are Licked and Know It

Movement for General Strike Is Stated in New York

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 5.—Bert M. Jewell, president of the striking railway shopmen, today sent a message to his followers from his hiding place. Jewell urged the men to stand firm, declaring they were the "last hope in the great industrial war which has raged since the world war ended." The message was printed in the shopmen's weekly bulletin issued today.

"We don't appear to be able to get justice, food, clothing, or shelter from the railroads, the president, congress or the railroad labor board. We must, therefore, rely on ourselves and ourselves only," Jewell stated.

Referring directly to the rail executives' message, he said, "Despite your threats, your cunning and your scheming, you are licked and your associates know it."

The message declared that the decisions of the railroad labor board are "promises written on sand." Jewell's hiding place, to which he fled a short time after the injunction was issued, is still unknown.

Ask General Strike
New York, N. Y., Sept. 5.—A movement for a general strike of the American Federation of Labor in protest against the Daugherty injunction was started here today.

Samuel Gompers, president of the federation will be asked in a resolution to be introduced at a special meeting of the trades and labor council tonight to call a convention in New York to consider a general walk-out, it became known. The resolution was drawn at a secret meeting of labor leaders held here yesterday.

The New York council is the largest and most powerful in the United States, having a membership of 800,000 workers. Pledges of various locals of unions here to aid the striking railway shopmen totaled thousands of dollars. It was predicted that a $100,000 fund will be raised this week.

Would Extend Order
Washington, D. C., Sept. 5.—Extension of the Daugherty injunction to bring within its scope all persons who give aid in any form to the 400,000 striking rail shopmen was discussed by President Harding and his cabinet today. Broadening of the injunction was declared by one cabinet member as necessary to silence leaders of non-striking unions, who have continued to send public and private messages of support and sympathy to shopmen leaders ever since the injunction was issued.

Not to be Strict
Washington, D. C., Sept. 5.—The government will not attempt "to abridge the constitutional liberties" of striking shopmen by too rigid enforcement of the Daugherty injunction, it was said today at the White House. The only purpose of the injunction, it was declared, is to prevent interference in interstate commerce. It was indicated that the government will not attempt to prevent meetings of strikers under the court order.

Defendant Released
Chicago, Ill., Sept. 5.—Hope of testing the "Daugherty injunction" received a temporary setback today, when federal authorities announced their abandonment of the case against Joseph Kloborski, alleged injunction violator. Kloborski did not intentionally violate the injunction, federal officials believe, and they want a stronger case to make a test. Kloborski was released from custody. He was arrested while loitering around railroad shops.

Labor day was unmarked by any serious outbreaks, although sabotage was reported in many parts of the country. Labor day orators at Benton, Ill., flayed the "Daugherty injunction" without exception, declaring it was granted "without regard to law." Eugene V. Debs, former Socialist candidate for the presidency, who is ill at a sanitarium here, stated to fellow patients that the rail strike was just another step toward government ownership of all corporate bodies. "It won't be long before every citizen will be as free to ride on the railroads as they are to walk on highways today," Debs said.

Second Wife Would Share Fortune With First One, Divorced

Dresser Junction, Sept. 5.—Charlotte Boch started for the end of the rainbow today. She was told it was in Chicago where the wife of her former husband, has been seeking her. "I want to get what is coming to me," she said, as she started to find Mrs. Eleanor Boch. The latter arrived in Chicago from Los Angeles seeking the first wife of her husband, and declaring she was going to provide amply for her from her husband's wealth.

John Boch left his first wife in Chicago more than 20 years ago. He made a fortune in the Klondike, divorced her quietly and married again. Recently he told his second wife of his past life and she started for the east to see "that John's first wife gets a square deal."

Mrs. Eleanor Boch was expected to come here but she did not arrive so Mrs. Boch started for Chicago to find her. "I have been working hard for 20 years. I think I am entitled to a portion of John's wealth," she said.

PNEUMONIA FATAL TO GEORGE FROST

Well Known Business Man Passes Away After Illness Extending Over Two Weeks

George W. Frost, one of Stevens Point's prosperous manufacturers, passed away at his home on Wisconsin and Spruce streets at 10:10 o'clock Tuesday morning. The direct cause of death was pneumonia, with which Mr. Frost suffered for two weeks. He had been in poor health a couple of years, the cause of his ailment being diabetes, but by careful dieting and otherwise taking good care of himself he kept reasonably active and often gave indications of returning to normal strength. It is reasonable to assume that he would have lived for many years had not the pneumonia developed.

Mr. Frost was 49 years of age on Monday. He was born at Wells, Minn., Sept. 4, 1873, but the family came to Stevens Point 12 years later and he grew up to young manhood here, attending the city schools and later mastering the blacksmith trade under the tutelage of his father, the late John C. Frost.

He worked for the Wisconsin Central in this city until the removal of the shops to North Fond du Lac. At this latter place he served as foreman a couple of years, but in 1904 he returned here to become associated with his sister, Miss Carrie J. Frost, in a fishing tackle factory. A year ago last November the firm of G. W. Frost & Sons was organized and they have since conducted a growing business in two brick buildings at the corner of Stronge avenue and Mill street.

Mr. Frost and Miss Martha Oberlatz were married 25 years ago and they are the parents of five sons and daughters, Harold J., Geo. W., Jr., Florence, Caroline and John Frost. Deceased was also survived by two sisters, and four brothers. Carrie of this city, Mrs. W. B. Wells of Monmouth, Ill., John of Stevens Point, Charles of Seattle, Joseph of Madison and Austin of Santa Cruz, Cal.

His fraternal associations include membership in the local Masonic lodges, the Woodmen and Beavers.

Senate Confirms Nomination of Utah Man to Post on the Supreme Court

Washington, Sept. 5.—The senate today confirmed the nomination of George H. Sutherland of Utah, to be associate justice of the United States supreme court. Sutherland was appointed to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of John H. Clarke, of Ohio.

When Sutherland's name was sent to the senate, Senator Nelson, Minnesota, chairman of the senate judiciary committee, requested that the nomination be confirmed at once in open session without referring the appointment to the judiciary committee. This request was immediately granted and the nomination was confirmed by acclamation without a dissenting vote.

PICNICS BRING THOUSANDS OUT ON LABOR DAY

Celebrations At Polonia, Lake Emily, Rosholt and Stevens Point

Picnics in all sections of Portage county on Monday, drew out thousands of people in celebration of Labor day.

A mammoth crowd attended the picnic given by the Sacred Heart congregation at Polonia, all day, and proceeds of the affair which will go into the congregation treasury, are reported to be satisfactorily large. A big program of amusements was offered.

The Old Settlers' picnic at Lake Emily was attended by 500 persons, residents of Stevens Point and in every portion of the county, who gathered to attend the program.

Picnic at Rosholt
Another picnic, one at Rosholt, which observed Labor day in an elaborate manner, brought out crowds of people. The Consolidated band picnic at the fair grounds in Stevens Point, considering the heat of the afternoon, was attended by fairly large crowds.

All the old officers of the Portage County Old Settlers' club were re-elected at the business session of the club, held on the shores of Lake Emily on Monday afternoon, and attended by hundreds of "old settlers." H. H. Hoffman of Amherst was returned to the office of president, George Starks of Amherst Junction to the vice-presidency, and M. E. Bruce of Stevens Point was again named secretary and treasurer.

Many of the people who attended the picnic arrived in the morning, bringing their luncheons with them, but a large number came in the afternoon, after lunch, to attend the program that was carried out.

Community Singing
Rev. Theodore Ringgen of the Trinity Lutheran church of Stevens Point pronounced the invocation at the start of the program, following which Miss Morrill, teacher in the Amherst Junction school, lead in community singing. A song selection was rendered by girls from the Amherst Junction school next.

M. M. Ames, the speaker of the day, chose a topic of local history in the schools, and declared that he believed that the pioneers of Portage county, or the pioneers of any section in Wisconsin or the United States, deserved as much credit as William Penn, Lord Baltimore, Roger Williams or any other of the first settlers of the Atlantic coast colonies. He spoke in favor of courses in local history in the schools. Mr. Ames is a former professor of history in the Stevens Point State Normal school.

George Sroda, a pupil in the Amherst school, followed with a recitation.

Speaks For Roads
W. F. Collins of Arnott then spoke in favor of good roads in the county, declaring himself opposed to a plan of improving only the main roads. He declared that the construction of good roads entering farming districts, as well as on the main travelled routes, was important. The town of Plover should have a tax rate higher than .0090, said Mr. Collins, and should use some of the money raised by a regular rate, in construction of good side roads. A song by the girls of the Amherst Junction school completed the program.

At the business meeting a resolution thanking all who assisted in making the picnic a success was passed. A stand where soft drinks and hot coffee was served, was conducted by the Woman's club of Amherst Junction, which also held a program of games and races. In the free-for-all footrace, M. M. Ames won, and was awarded a corn cob pipe.

Reunions Not Present
A collection, the first to be taken up in four years, to defray expenses of the club, was taken up. Any one in the county, whether born here or not, who has lived in this section for 20 years is automatically a member of the Old Settlers' club. Mayor O. R. Roedius of Wisconsin Rapids, who was to have given a talk, was unable to be present.

The Consolidated picnic at the fair grounds opened at 1:30 o'clock with a parade of local labor union members from the public square to the fair grounds, lead by the Consolidated band. Various amusements, including a baseball game, were offered during the afternoon, and in the evening, a free band dance was conducted on the tennis court at the northwest section of the grounds. The band will net about $100 by the picnic, it is stated. A "pickup" baseball team, piloted by Joe Bartkowiak, who pitched for his club, lost to the Auto Transfers, 12 to 1.

FOLKS ARE ALWAYS BEING SO KIND TO US

League Of Nations Planning World Wide Disarmament Program

Geneva, Switzerland, Sept. 5.—The League of Nations today planned to launch a practically world-wide disarmament program. So strong is the disarmament sentiment among the nations attending the meeting, that the session will consider a second armistice which will probably enlarge the scope of the work of the Washington conference.

The disarmament program will be presented by Lord Robert Cecil, and will include a world-wide defensive alliance and non-aggression pact. The limitation of an armament budget, the suppression of the use of gas, the control of traffic in arms and other subjects are to be considered under the disarmament program.

17 FEET OF ROCK ENTOMBING MINERS

Rescuers Expect to Cut through to Soft Dirt and Save 47 Men by Tomorrow Night

Jackson, Cal., Sept. 5.—Rescue workers expected to break through tomorrow night to the 47 miners who have been entombed for nine days. As the party started digging today, it was estimated that only 17 feet of rock must be cut away before soft dirt is reached. Air shafts were laid today on the surface from the Argonaut to the Kennedy mine, adjoining it to increase the air pressure in the Kennedy shaft.

COUNCIL MEETS WEDNESDAY
Today being a legal holiday, the September meeting of the common council will be held on Wednesday evening.

Brown Speaks
John W. Brown of Stevens Point delivered an address in front of the grandstand on general conditions of the present day, following the parade. Rosholt Picnic

Prof. R. A. Moore, secretary of the Wisconsin Experimental association and a member of the state agricultural school faculty, was the principal speaker at the big outing at Rosholt on Labor day, when several hundred people gathered at the beautiful park just north of that village. Mr. Moore was introduced by W. W. Clark, county agricultural agent. At the conclusion of his talk he devoted considerable time to judging exhibits sent there by people of four surrounding townships. A baseball game between the Guarantee Hardware team of Stevens Point and the Rosholt nine was won by the latter, 7 to 1.

SUDDEN RELAPSE FATAL TODAY TO BISHOP FALLOWS

Thousands of University Students Mourn Death of Oldest Graduate

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 5.—The Right Reverend Samuel Fallows, bishop of the reformed Episcopal church died here today, following a long illness. Bishop Fallows was 87 years old. He was the oldest living graduate of the university of Wisconsin.

Bishop Fallows contracted influenza on a trip to California, and was rushed back to his home here. His condition continued to improve but he suffered a sudden relapse yesterday from which he failed to rally. A daughter was at the bedside. Arrangements for the funeral have not been completed.

Bishop Fallows was born in England in 1845. He moved to Wisconsin in 1848 and married Lucy Bertha Huntington of Marshall, Wis., in 1900. She died in 1916.

Bishop Fallows was a brigadier general in the civil war and received that commission for "meritorious services." He was elected presiding bishop eight times.

University Mourns

Madison, Wis., Sept. 5.—Seven thousand university of Wisconsin students packing to return to school here, and three as many graduates today mourned the death of the oldest alumnus of the school, Bishop Samuel Fallows. He was the last member of the class of '59.

"During all of the 63 years since Bishop Fallows graduated from Wisconsin, he has carried on work for the world in the spirit of service founded on faith in God and in man. This spirit was the ever present readiness to sacrifice and to fight for the overthrow of evil and advancement of right," President E. A. Birge of the university declared in a statement.

Marathon Men Here Enroute Home From Travels in Germany

Frank Leuschen and Martin Gilman of Marathon City made a short stay in the city Tuesday on their return from a trip to their boyhood homes in Germany. They sailed on May 23 and after disembarking went directly to Rhine province, Mr. Leuschen visiting two sisters there and Mr. Gilman spent most of his time at a brother's home. Both the travelers came to America forty years ago and this is the first time they had been overseas since that time. While practically all the German factories are operating to their fullest capacity, the workers are able to eke out only a bare living because of the almost utter collapse of currency values. Weather conditions there were almost ideal this season, the temperature averaging around 65 degrees.

Mr. Leuschen was former postmaster at Marathon and also published the Times newspaper. He recently sold his business interests and will move to Phillips and engage in the hardware line.

NINE GIRLS INJURED WHEN TANK EXPLODES

Chicago, Sept. 5.—Nine girls were injured and scores of school children imperiled when a tank of alcohol at the Joseph Triner Chemical company here exploded today. The nine girls were trapped by the fire which followed the explosion but were carried away safely by the firemen. The plant is across the street from the Clarke school, which was shaken by the explosion.

PERMANENT PANAMA TREATY IS PLANNED

Termination of Present Agreement Is Asked by President in Communication

Washington, Sept. 5.—President Harding sent a communication to congress asking for termination of the present treaty with Panama, so a permanent treaty can be drafted. The existing treaty drafted by William Howard Taft, while secretary of war in 1904, was intended to hold only during the Panama canal construction period. It has now served its purpose, the president stated, and the administration desires to have it replaced with a permanent one.

OFFICE SEEKERS AWAIT VERDICT OF ELECTORATE

Wisconsin Voters Go to the Polls in State's Primary Fight

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 5.—Wisconsin Republicans passed judgment today on the war record of Senator Robert M. LaFollette in a state primary. Voters gave their decision on a bitter battle waged chiefly on the question of the veteran badge senator's opposition to the war by William A. Gannfield. Two complete Republican tickets were in the contest.

LaFollette and Governor John J. Maine, who is a candidate for renomination, headed the Progressive state. William A. Gannfield, college president, and William J. Morgan, present state attorney, ran as running mates for the senatorial and gubernatorial nominations. Gannfield, who is attempting to defeat LaFollette, is making his debut in politics. He has made a strenuous campaign that has even surprised his most ardent supporters. During the last eight weeks he has delivered 307 speeches, talking in every county in the state. LaFollette was in the state the early part of his campaign, returning to Washington for a short period. He came back from Washington on the eve of the primary for a whirlwind wind-up. While the senator was at the capital, his wife and son carried out his speaking campaign. In every speech made by LaFollette he upheld his opposition to the war.

Big Vote Expected
Elaborate efforts were being made to bring out a maximum vote and the early vote showed an unusually large ballot was being polled.

The wet and dry issue is being put up to Republican voters through the candidacy of A. C. McHenry, who has taken an out and out stand for light wines and beer.

There is no opposition in the Democratic primary, except that A. A. Bentley, an avowed wet, is opposed for the nomination for governor by Karl Mathie.

Mrs. Jessie Jack Hooper is the Democratic candidate for United States senator, unopposed. She, as well as other Democratic candidates, is required to poll a vote of $5,000 under the Wisconsin law to insure a place for their names on the ballot.

Socialists For "Hot"

At the regular elections the Socialists have no candidate for United States senator, but their support will be thrown to LaFollette. They have a slate of candidates for most all the other state offices. Victor L. Berger, Milwaukee, who was refused a seat in the house of representatives, is a candidate for the nomination for congress from the 5th congressional district.

INCOME TAX RULING MAKES HUSBAND PAY

Wife Can't Make Separate Return and Children's Incomes Must Be Assessed to Father

Madison, Sept. 5.—Where husbands, wives and children all have separate incomes, the total income must be assessed and state income tax assessed against the husband, the attorney general ruled today. There is no authority in the law allowing a wife to make a separate return or claim a separate exemption of $500, the opinion written by Deputy Attorney General Ralph H. How said.

Where the children have independent incomes, their incomes must be assessed to the father and paid by him although he does not receive the benefit of them. Although through the progressive increase in the rate of taxation, a tax on income increase, it results in requiring the father to pay a higher tax on his own income than he would pay if the children's incomes were not combined with his own.

The question has been decided in the state supreme court and cannot be changed unless the legislature takes action to amend the state income tax statute, to allow separate taxations when there are two or more incomes within a family.

Sailing Airplanes

The importance of the recent air-gliding contests in France and Germany should not be underestimated.
This building and sailing of "gliders," or engineless planes, is more than a mere sport. It is a scientific competition that will mean much to the future development of aviation.

It is a question of perfecting the planes—the lifting and steering part of the air machine—and learning to handle them most effectively. And this is the biggest problem that remains to be solved in the mastery of the air.

Airplanes have been driven far and fast, but only with the expenditure of great energy. A bird flies far and fast with little effort. The golden plover travels from Nova Scotia to the Antilles, 3,400 miles, using only two ounces of fat for fuel. At this rate, says a scientist, an airplane weighing half a ton should fly twenty miles
on a pint of gasoline.

The soaring of birds—their rising or remaining motionless in the air without perceptible effort has always been a favorite problem for scientists.
If a bird could only do that! And just lately, man seems on the verge of doing it. A German the other day rose in a light breeze—on a gliding plane and remained up for more than two hours. That was the most amazing step in aviation since the Wright brothers first proved flight possible.

If a plane bearing a human being can be flown without an engine, the addition of a very little mechanical power will suffice for dependable flight. We shall have planes of extreme lightness and buoyancy, with engines of absurdly small weight and power, for general use. We may even have "air bicycles," propelled by the hands and feet of the operator. Then men will be really flying.

Higher Steel Wages

The voluntary raise of wages by the United States Steel corporation is the most hopeful industrial sign that has appeared this summer.

The steel trust is not a philanthropic institution. When it adds 20 percent to the pay of its 156,000 laborers, compelling its competitors to follow suit, it does so from economic compulsion, as a matter of good business.
Its action, properly read, tells volumes
regarding general conditions in American industry.

It means that common labor is becoming scarce in the United States. It means that full employment may be expected soon, not only in the steel industries but in the other industries.
It means that the supply of cheap immigrant labor, formerly counted on as unfailing, has run out, thanks to a restrictive immigration law. It means that the general downward movement of wages is checked, and while wages may not rise again to the boom level they will remain at a level high enough to insure the retention of new standards of living and a greater buying power than labor formerly possessed.

This with good crops, should bring whole-some and profitable activity soon throughout the country, with the possibility of a genuine and long-continued wave of prosperity.

Blind Man Makes
Trip To Virginia
Without Companion

John T. Kostuck of Amherst, blind, and a teacher in the school for the blind at Staunton, Va., left his home at Amherst village on Saturday to make the trip, alone, to the Virginia
city.

Mr. Kostuck is leaving for Staunton a week earlier than necessary, stopping off at Chicago and Washington to visit college friends.

While in Washington Mr. Kostuck expects to make an attempt to shake hands with the president. He was denied this pleasure in the spring because of the president's absence the day he went through the White House. While in Washington he will also visit the two houses of congress.

Mr. Kostuck goes everywhere, unaccompanied, depending on "red caps" and other railroad employees to assist him in making changes from one train to another. Mr. Kostuck likes to travel alone, he says, because it gives him a spirit of independence.

From Washington to Staunton, a distance of 156 miles, Mr. Kostuck will be with friends, making the trip
by car.

Polish News

(From the Polish Bureau of Information, New York)

The Free City of Danzig is rapidly becoming the clearing house for emigrants from Central European countries to North and South America and for immigrants returning to Central and Eastern Europe from the United States and other countries, according to Dr. Stanislas J. T. Marchlewski, Deputy Polish Commissioner General
of Danzig, who is returning to Poland on the Latvia after a short stay in the United States, during which time he made "a study of immigration problems."

In order to facilitate the handling of the tens of thousands of emigrants and immigrants passing through the Free City, a company for conducting emigration and re-emigration camps in Danzig is organizing now with the approval of both Polish and Free City authorities.

Similar to Ellis Island

The society is constructing a "travelers' camp" which will afford facilities similar to those of Ellis Island except that, in the case of the Danzig camp,
there will be no compulsion to pass through the camp, with the exception of passport and tariff formalities. Its services, however, will be of such a nature that travelers, who have in the past encountered many difficulties, will find passing through Danzig to be no longer a dreary hardship. Owing to the sudden increase of emigration
through Danzig, the city's facilities were so taxed that travelers, especially inexperienced travelers, suffered unnecessary hardships.

The society's camp will provide accommodations for travelers, who are obliged to wait in the Free City for a number of days, as well as for those who pass directly through. Not only will they be housed, but they will be given medical attention and will be given detailed information in order to enable them to expedite their compliance with visa and other regulations.
The need for such an organization became increasingly apparent when travelers returning to Central Europe landed in Danzig and were unable to turn to any governmental or private agency for directions. Summary, emigrants from Poland and other countries, arriving in Danzig to embark for foreign countries, were left to shift for themselves. This condition was, in part, an outgrowth of Dan-zig's suddenly becoming an important embarkation port.

According to present plans, the society will be able to provide facilities for about one hundred thousand travelers annually.

Gradual Improvement

Dr. Marchlewski, in a statement made just previous to his departure, outlined the present situation in the Free City. He explained that transportation conditions in the Free City are being gradually improved and that since Poland has taken over the administration of the railroads within the territory of the Free City, good service between Warsaw and other points in Poland and the seaport has been established.

Owing to the fact that both Poland
and the Free City share the administration of the port, many difficulties still remain. Both the Poles and the Danzigers are anxious to cooperate.
The latter have shown a more marked tendency toward cooperation since the Upper Silesian settlement when Poland was economically strengthened by the addition of the coal region.

The Polish Representation in Danzig is headed by Commissioner General Leon Pluninski. This commission combines diplomatic, consular and administrative functions. Dr. Marchlewski is chief assistant to the Commissioner-General.

POLISH ELECTIONS
SET FOR NOVEMBER

Will Name 111 Deputies and 111 Senators in First Regular Vote

The first regular parliamentary elections in re-born Poland will be held in November, according to the decision reached by the present provisional Parliament. The election of members of the Lower House (Sejm) will be held on November 5th, while Senators will be chosen one week later on November 12th.

The electoral ordinance which was recently adopted provides for a Lower House of 111 members and for a Senate of 111 members.

The Senate has been divided, for the purpose of the election, into 64 parliamentary districts and 17 senatorial districts. The number of deputies from each district will vary from four to 14, depending on the population.
There will be one deputy for approximately every 20,000 inhabitants.

State and District Lists

The method by which deputies are elected is set forth in great detail in the electoral bill. Of the total 111 members of the Senate, 92 are to be elected from local legislative lists, while 19 members are to be chosen from senatorial lists. In order that a party believed to have won seats in the Senate, it must have won seats in at least six local districts.

In practice the mandates will be distributed as follows: Suppose that in a district, which six deputies are to be chosen from the district lists, the two parties polling the largest number of votes obtain the following totals:
Party A 30,000 votes; Party B 20,000
votes; Party C 10,000 votes; Party D 5,000 votes, and Party E 5,000 votes.

constitution is a nation. Without it the nation is not good, the other deputies, Party B to two, Party C to one, while the remaining parties would fail of representation.

Division of State Mandates

The 72 deputies who are chosen from the State lists will be divided among the various parties in proportion to the number of seats they win on the district lists. For sake of simplicity let us assume that the 372 seats
and divided among only four parties, party A winning 190, party B 124
seats and parties C and D each 31 seats. Then Party A, having won half of the district mandates, would be according 36, or one-half of the State mandates, Party B would receive 24
State mandates, and Parties C and D
each six State mandates.

It is thought that the result will be the elimination from Parliament of a number of the small parties, which,
not strong enough to carry out a constructive program have nevertheless been strong enough to obstruct legislation. The smaller parties will consequently be compelled to affiliate with the stronger groups and thus make possible the development of two or three strong parties instead of the many less representative parties.

Five-Year Terms

The Polish Constitution provides that deputies and senators be elected for terms of five years to be counted from the day of the opening session of Parliament. Candidates for the office of senator must be at least forty years of age, while candidates for the Crauber must be at least twenty-five.

All Polish citizens without distinction of sex are entitled to the ballot.
All citizens who are at least twenty-one years of age are permitted to vote
for members of the Lower House, while the right to vote for Senators is restricted to voters who are at least thirty years of age.

Of the 111 senators 93 are to be chosen from the district lists and 18 from the State lists. The electoral bill provides for a maximum of 100 candidates for the Lower House on the State lists and 25 candidates for the Senate.

TOURISTS NEED CALL
NOW ENROUTE SOUTHStream of Cars on Highways Moves Back With Approach of the Autumn Season

Wisconsin's great stream of tourist traffic has turned about. Like birds abandoning the north at the first signs of cold weather, the thousands of automobile parties are leaving the northern woods and lakes and are moving south.

Casual cars come this way from Illinois with their occupants on late vacations or seeking to enjoy the last outing before the balmy weather goes. Most of the machines, however, come from the northern highways and are headed for Milwaukee and Chicago.

Recent weather which was cool to the point where it was almost frosty has stimulated the about face of pleasure-loving tourists, but the calendar really takes most of the blame. One date on its pages, Sept.
1, is not printed in red ink like Sundays and holidays, yet it perhaps stands out almost as prominently.

Sept. 1 appears to be the line of demarcation between pleasure, business, vacation and school days, idling and social pressure. Relaxation that affects almost everybody when hot weather arrives goes unrestricted through July and August. But in September it is different. Business and professional men go back to their desks, children flock to school opening then, and the homes in the cities are reopened.

Hotel owners do not look for the end of the tourist trade until late in October. Cottages will be closed and the traffic will dwindle, but with the concrete highways in use from Chicago almost into the heart of the north, many parties will nose their cars to the playground of Wisconsin
on Saturdays for a week-end stay.

There will be an influx of hunters
after the season opens Sept. 15.
Their route probably will be a different one from that of the fisherman and cottager, but it will again be northward. Snow will be sifting through the clouds just a little when the last automobiles bearing out of state licenses will be seen. These will be the deer-hunters.

CONSOLIDATED MILL
EMPLOYEES RECEIVE
INCREASE IN WAGESDozen Men in Stevens Point Raised
From 32 to 35 Cents Per Hour for an Eight

Hour Day

An increase in wages of laborers employed at the local plant of the Consolidated Water Power & Paper company of three cents per hour became effective on Friday, Sept. 1.

Approximately a dozen men will benefit by the raise, it was learned.
The wages are increased from 32 to 35 cents per hour for an eight hour day.

Increases in wages for mill workers
at Wisconsin Rapids and Biron mills of the Consolidated company also became effective on the same date.
Men who have been drawing a rate of from 32 to 35 cents per hour at those places will be paid from three to five cents per hour more, according to the Wisconsin Rapids Tribune.

"The minimum wage scale paid
for unskilled labor in the local mills, with but slight exception, is $3.15 per day," a company official stated at Wisconsin Rapids. The difference between that sum and the minimum of $2.50 paid here is accounted for by longer working hours. At the Rapids and Biron unskilled labor is working nine hours, while in Stevens Point the men work but eight.

The Consolidated official at the Rapids stated that "the increase amounts to 10 per cent and practically restores the men to wages they were receiving prior to the cut early in the year."

Increases in wages of men drawing scales corresponding to the wages
in the Wisconsin Rapids and Biron branches of the Consolidated were also made at the Nekeosa-Edwards Paper company, at both Port Edwards and Nekeosa. The increase will amount to a 10 per cent raise for all employees, affecting all classes of labor, restoring the scale effective before March 1, 1922, it was stated.

STOCKTON CREAMERY
BUILDING DESTROYEDStructure Idle for Several Years
Burns Monday Morning at Loss
of Several Thousand

A one story frame building at Stockton station, for many years used for creamery purposes but which had been idle during the past two or three years, was completely destroyed by fire Monday morning. The fire started in a sawdust filled ice-house, located about six feet south of the large structure and had such a start before its discovery at about 4 o'clock that nothing could be done to prevent its spreading.

R. Silvernale, "third trick" operator at the Stockton Soo line depot, occupied a sleeping room in what was formerly the dwelling house portion of the creamery, but he left there several hours before the icehouse started to burn. People from the neighborhood entered his apartment and removed his personal effects before the fire reached that part of the building.

Probably the greatest loss was to machinery and equipment, said to have been the equal of any in this section of Wisconsin, and which is practically ruined.

At one time, when the business was conducted by O. R. McCormick, this creamery was one of the most prosperous institutions of its kind in Portage county, but in later years the competition became too strong and the place closed.

The property was owned by Anton Pejsa, who also operated a factory at Custer, for several years but is now farming near Pulaski, Shawano county. A loss of several thousand dollars is believed to be total, for as far as known Mr. Pejsa had no insurance.

HARVESTING RECORD

CROP OF SOYBEANS

Advice on How to Handle It Given

by Expert of State Agricultural Staff

The greatest acreage of soy beans hay ever known in Wisconsin is now being harvested.

Hundreds of Badger farmers have from 12 to 15 acres of this hay to cut and many have as high as 50 acres or more.

"Select the best conditions possible to cut your soy bean hay regardless of the condition of the pods," warns George M. Briggs of the agricultural staff of the University of Wisconsin.

"There is the most nourishment in the plants when the lower pods are partially developed, but don't wait if you've got good hay weather. Especially is this true for northern Wisconsin farmers."

"The best quality of hay is made by putting the beans in small cock, while yet in the wilting stage. While in this condition the plants pack together more firmly. And, from the experiments conducted on the Spooner branch station, they shed water better than any of the other legumes. On land where the soil under the cocks has a tendency to remain wet, possibly the cocks will have to be turned a few hours before handling."

The best way to stack soy bean hay according to Briggs is in layers. He recommends first a layer of soy bean hay about a foot thick, then a layer of about five inches of straw or other coarse dry hay, then another soy bean layer, and so on.

A sprinkling of salt on each layer of soy beans helps wonderfully in the curing process. Livestock will even eat the straw with relish when stacked in this way, maintains the "soy bean" man.

Soy bean hay may be cut and handled the same as red clover, says the legume specialist, using mower, side delivery rake, and hay loader. However, on small areas a better grade of hay can be put up by letting the beans cure in the cock.

TARIFF BILL FIRST THEN SOLDIER BONUS

Five House Conferees Join in Blocking Action Until Tariff is Out of the Way

Washington, D. C., Sept. 6.—The bonus report will not be submitted to congress by the house and senate conferees until the tariff bill is disposed of, the committee decided today.

Senator Smoot, Utah, joined with four house conferees in blocking consideration of the bonus, while Senators McCumber, Simmons and Walsh of Mass., supported the motion to displace the tariff. The vote was 5 to 3. This means that the tariff which is expected to be reported out of the latter part of this week, will be held continuously before the committee. No efforts now can be made to work on the bonus report until the tariff is out of the way.

NORMAL READY TO OPEN FALL TERM SEPT. 11

Buildings and Grounds Improved and New Courses of Study Added

With new courses of study planned, many improvements made to buildings and grounds, rooms and student employment being taken care of and a complete teaching staff ready to begin work, including two new instructors, the State Normal of this city is in readiness for the opening of the fall term on Sept. 11.

New Teachers
President John F. Sims announces that the following new teachers have been employed to serve in the Normal for the coming year:

Miss Nina Betz of Moberly, Missouri, as a critic teacher in the Junior High school in place of Miss Cecile Crandall. Miss Betz holds the A. B. degree from Teachers' College, Kirksville, Mo., and has had teaching experience at Memphis, Mo., Attica, Iowa and East Chicago, Ill.

Miss Agnes J. Douglass, who after having had two years of college credit at Yankton, South Dakota, graduated from the Chicago Art Institute and has taken post-graduate work in the Art Institute of Chicago University. Her teaching experience has been at Bridgewater, S. D., Yankton College, S. D., and art supervisor of public school work at Whiting, Ind. She takes the place of Miss Marjorie Williams, resigned.

Courses of Study

The college courses will be maintained the coming year. New four year courses for the training of high school teachers and Home Economics teachers will be started at the opening of school, September 11. This power has been granted by the Board of Regents who are also asking the legislature at its next session to give the Normal schools power to grant degrees for all students who have completed any of the four year teaching courses.

This movement will give opportunity for young men and women in central Wisconsin to secure a degree upon completing four year courses of training in the Stevens Point Normal, an opportunity that will be very welcome.

The new course for training rural school supervisors was very popular during the summer session, having enrolled about 20 students from all parts of Wisconsin. The field of supervision offers great opportunities for real service and the school believes that those who live in the open and till the soil are in the last analysis, the backbone of the state and the nation. Wisconsin is searching for trained supervisors and the Normal school here has planned a course which enables all who take it to become leaders in rural education and no problem today bulks larger in the public consciousness than this one.

Many Improvements
The following projects will be completed before the opening of school or early in the fall:

The new library will be completed. The auditorium and the rural assembly rooms will be painted.

A new cement floor will be constructed in the basement with larger drain pipes connected with the engines.

A new return line for heating the dormitory from the school will be installed.

New lighting fixtures will be installed in the building.

A cement gutter will be provided on the west side of the building to carry off water.

A new cement sidewalk will be built from the John Francis Sims cottages to the end of the Normal property on Fremont street.

A new shower and locker room for men will be constructed in the basement.

One hundred and fifteen trees on the campus have been trimmed and several dead trees taken out.

A new oil house at the rear of the building.

New fire escapes on the west and north sides of the building leading from the third story.

In all of these moves Regent Orthman has been very active, having made several trips to Madison to further the work on these contracts.

Rooms—Student Employment

The Normal school would appreciate any courtesy the citizens may extend in cooperating with the Chamber of Commerce in supplying a list of desirable rooms and in furnishing opportunities for part time student employment. A large number of these young men and women are handicapped by lack of means and desire to work their way in part through the school.

"READIN, RITIN" DAYS TO BE MADE EASIER

New Course for Country Schools Is Opposed to Memory Cramming

"Reading, 'riting and 'rithmetic" are no longer taught to the tune of the hickory stick in Wisconsin country schools.

Learning by force and mechanical repetition of fact and figures is a thing of the past.

Learning by doing and through the association of ideas has come and will definitely be established in the country schools of the state this fall through a new course of study arranged by the state department of public instruction.

The new course has been presented in detail to about 200 supervising teachers from every county in the state, who held their annual conference last week at Madison. The Misses Lucille Berard and Loretta Springer, supervisors in Portage county, attended.

Although the change from the old method of teaching to the new has been gradually going on for the past few years, it has its crystallization for the first time in the new course to be instituted this fall and in a manual setting forth in detail the curriculum and school organization.

The manual has just been compiled by members of the department of public instruction working under the direction of Supt. John Callahan and is the result of an intensive and internationally extensive study of the latest and best methods of teaching. It is at present still on the press but will be distributed to the 7,000 country schools in the state about the end of September.

Elimination of purely memory work and the substitution of "problem procedures" is the outstanding characteristic of the new course of study and its application.

For instance, instead of making children learn the population and manufacturing products of Great Britain and other facts concerning the nation, a problem is given such as "Why is England a great manufacturing center?" into the solution of which is brought the population of the country, the seaports, the topographical characteristics of the country showing why it is a commercial rather than an agricultural nation and other associated knowledge.

History is no longer a mass of facts and dates. It is translated into a study of what man is and how he became that way from what he was, what the masses of people themselves have done and its significance in the progress of civilization.

Dramatization, supplementary reading not only of books of knowledge but fiction and magazines have a definite part in school like in the new course of study. Handwork is made a means of expression in school subjects. Creative language is emphasized, practical civics is taught through school societies, continuous health and farm accounting and marketing are taught.

The one purpose of the new course is not to simply supply facts and figures but to translate knowledge into life relationships, to make children better masters of their surroundings, better citizens, and to awaken a social responsibility.

And in doing it the new course will no longer make of school days prison days, it is forecasted.

*Batted for Decker, ninth.

Score by innings: 000 030 010—4

Stevens Point: 000 000 000—0

Summary: Three base hit, Huber; home run, Johnson; sacrifice hits, Wright, Schultz, Durkee; double play, Normoyle to Peckarski to Durkee; stolen bases, Decker, Peckarski (2); bases on balls of Jakusz, none off Wloszynski, none off Veleta, two; struck out by Jakusz, three; hits off Jakusz, six in four and two-thirds innings, off Wloszynski, four in four and one third innings off Veleta, eight; hit by pitcher, Jakusz, Groh, Umpires, Bartkowiak and Huber.

Dumb coaching on the third station and an error, a previous error by Tommy Normoyle in the fifth inning, combined with too much of a pitcher named Veleta, took a 4 to 0 fall out of the Win Bowersock, Max Friday, Heinie Groh & Co., baseball team at the fair grounds on Sunday afternoon.

Any Wright's Marshfield club was the team that emerged from the fracas with the joyful end of the count. Let it be said that the Marshfield team is perhaps the best team that has been seen in the Point park this summer.

Jakusz Weakens

Walter Jakusz, late of the Guarantee Hardware baseball team, will have to gain a little more experience before he essays to start against semi-pro clubs, although he made a wonderful exhibition at Wisconsin Rapids a week previous. Jakusz started out well but weakened in the fifth, and after a triple had been delivered from the bat of "Stubby" Huber, was called to the bench and Big Emil Wloszynski finished the assignment in a creditable manner.

Jakusz' vanishing act probably wouldn't have taken place and he might have finished the game without mishap had not Tom Normoyle dropped an easy pop fly in deep short in that inning for what would have been the third out. Normoyle's error allowed three enemy runs to cross the platter.

Three Runs Scored

With two down, Decker singled. With the Marshfield first fielder stopping at the first platter, J. Christianson popped a fly which Normoyle went after. Losing it in the sky, it dropped safe, and second and third were occupied. Huber tripped to right field, scoring two, and when Emil took the stab, H. Johnson popped the first delivery for a single, scoring Huber. Marshfield's fourth tally was scored in the eighth when H. Johnson whaled a home run into right field.

Although Stevens Point had several chances to score, the sixth and seventh, notably the sixth, were most opportune. In the sixth, although four hits were scored off the faltering offerings of Veleta, not a run was scored. Groh and Normoyle both being caught off the home platter, trying to score on singles. Both raced in from the second station in each case, but dumb coaching at the third station sent them to the home platter when they should have been held at the third corner.

Hit Is Lacking
In the seventh with two out, and Schultz, Durkee and Groh on bases on a hit a walk and a hit by the pitcher respectively the redoubtable T. Normoyle performed the "Casy" of the bat" stunt and whiffed for the third out.

Outside of those innings the Pointers were at the mercy of Veleta. Only like Peckarski seemed to have the number of the enemy battery, for he bunted safely three times, and made good on a bunt fumbled by Huber at third getting on last each time he batted.

BIG PAVING PROGRAM ADOPTED AT TWO RIVERS

A big street paving program extending over a five year period has just been adopted by the city council at Two Rivers, Manitowish county.

TRUCK IS STOLEN

Gasoline Tank Empty, Bearings Burned Out When Found

With the gasoline tank empty, and bearings in the engine burned out, a Ford truck owned by Arthur Bejer and stolen from the yard of Ed. Pehowski, South Church street, Saturday night, was found Monday morning by Mr. Bejer at Cashin's Swimming Hole at the east end of Dixon street.

The car, loaned to the Electric Sales company by the Bejer garage while the delivery truck of the Electric Sales company was being repaired, had been driven to the Pehowski yard by Mr. Pehowski, an employee of the Electric Sales company, Saturday evening.

It was stolen late that night or early Sunday morning. After the "Joy riders" had used up all the gasoline and the oil in the engine had been burned out, the car was abandoned. The machine stood near the "Swimming Hole" from Sunday until Monday morning.

TWO MEN KILLED IN AUTO CRASHES

Seven Others Injured on Oshkosh-Fond du Lac Road, Highway 15, on Sunday

In an automobile crash south of Van Dyne on the Oshkosh-Fond du Lac road, early Sunday morning, one man was killed and seven were injured, one seriously. The dead man is Paul Schweda, aged 30, Milwaukee, driver of one of the cars. The most seriously injured is Edward Woehler, an Appleton garage man, who is in a Fond du Lac hospital. His left arm was crushed and he suffered severe lacerations and bruises about his body and legs.

A second fatality occurred Sunday evening on the Oshkosh-Fond du Lac road at almost the exact spot where the first tragedy was enacted. The second victim was Louis Selinska, a Berlin resident, employed for several months as repair man in a Fond du Lac garage. He was struck while engaged in jacking up a car to repair a punctured tire. His neck was broken.

WABENO BANK ROBBER IS AGAIN IN TROUBLE

Freed From State Prison, He Is Re-Arrested on Charge of Stealing Automobile

Stepping out of prison gates only to be apprehended again is the experience of Lawrence Lesperance, who, it will be remembered, was caught a year ago at Chippewa Falls and later sentenced to serve a year in Waupun for being implicated in the robbery of the Wabeno bank last year.

He was arrested last week on the charge of stealing an automobile from Henry Balhazor, town of Friendship, Fond du Lac county, on July 13, 1921. He had just finished his imprisonment. He pleaded not guilty to the charge when arraigned in municipal court at Fond du Lac. Bail was demanded in the sum of $1,000.

Lesperance's brother William, who was taken into custody at Green Bay, and another man called "Frenchy" Jaeger, who was arrested with Lawrence Lesperance at Chippewa Falls, following the bank robbery, are still serving their 25 year sentences. The Wabeno bank robbery followed the robbery of the Outagamie bank of Appleton last year, and it was suspected that the same gang was involved in the robbery.

"EARLY WORMS" GET HUNTING LICENSES

George Nigh, Jr. of Plainfield and Martin Leavitt of Bancroft Secure Permits

If the saying, "The early bird catches the worm" hasn't been put out of date by some more modern "crack" George Nigh, Jr. of Plainfield and Martin L. Leavitt of Bancroft ought to bag plenty game this fall and winter. Those two men were the first to secure hunting licenses at the county clerk's office. More than 20 Portage county hunters have plunked down their dollars for hunting permits and nearly half of this number have secured deer tags.

It is the Knutsen bill, which gives widows $20 a month and eliminates the dependency clause. Up to this time the pension for widows has been $12 a month and women who had an income of $250 a month were not eligible. Veterans who had served less than 90 days were also ineligible.

Society

McDill Aid Meets
Mrs. Elvin Potter was hostess to the McDill Ladies' Aid on Friday afternoon. An unusually large attendance was present, 58 members and visitors. Voluntary contributions amounted to $9.55.

The business session was made as short as possible as an attractive program had been arranged, and on account of there being several visitors some of whom are spending a few weeks with relatives at McDill, it was decided that the afternoon would be devoted to a renewal of acquaintances.

The program opened with a song by a chorus of nine high school girls, with Miss Margaret Anderson at the piano. The next number was a piano solo by Miss Anderson, who is a graduate of the Ouachita college conservatory, Arkadelphia, Ark. Miss Schwartz, who is an out of town visitor from Escanaba, Mich., rendered a vocal solo. The closing number was a rendition of "The Sunshine of Your Smile," by the chorus.

At the close of the program, Mrs. Potter with her able assistants, served ice cream and wafers. It was voted to hold the next meeting with Mrs. Joe Mason.

Out of town visitors were: Mrs. Rudolph Schwartz and daughter, Miss Caroline of Escanaba, Mich.; Mrs. Arnold Herman of Lena, Wis., and Mrs. William Anderson and daughter of Malvern, Ark.

Morton-Nowak Wedding

The handsome interior of St. Peter's church was further beautified Wednesday morning in preparation for a wedding which took place there at 8:30 o'clock, the principals being Alexander Morton and Miss Mary Nowak, two of Stevens Point's most esteemed young people. They approached the altar beneath a flower bedecked arch, especially erected for the occasion, where the bride was "given away" by her father, John Nowak, and the marriage ceremony performed by a cousin, Rev. F. A. Nowak of St. Adalbert's church, Alban.

The bridesmaid was Miss Marcella Nowak, a sister, and Miss Frances Suplick served as maid of honor. L. H. Martini performed the duties of best man, with Emil Grabin groomsmen.

The ring, encased in a lily which was surrounded by asters, filling a daintily constructed basket, was carried by Evelyn Nowak.

When the solemn words had been spoken, high mass was offered up by Father Nowak, assisted by Rev. W. H. Kiernan and Rev. S. A. Elbert, the latter pastor of St. Peter's.

During the service "Ave Marie" was sung by Miss Philomena Nowak and a violin solo rendered by Edward Bukolt.

The bride's gown was silk crepe fillet, with Spanish lace and an embroidered veil. She also wore a pearl necklace, the gift of the groom, and carried a shower bouquet of bridal roses.

Miss Marcella Nowak wore pink pussywillow taffeta, hat to match and she carried tea roses.

Miss Suplick's dress was of tea rose changeable material, with picture hat, and a shower bouquet of tea roses.

Little Evelyn Nowak was dressed in green organdie and wore a hat of the same shade.

Friends to the number of more than one hundred were dinner guests at the home of the bride's parents, 611 Franklin street where a reception was held in the afternoon. The dining room was prettily decorated for the occasion with ferns and pink and white flowers, while a profusion of miniature colored lights added to the table's attractiveness.

Guests who came from a distance included Mrs. John Brawa, Isabelle Strenski and Florian Lotta of Green Bay, Mrs. K. Kursewski, Mrs. Wm. St. George, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Wilkinson, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Kursewski of New London, Mrs. Frank Welch of Northfield, Minn., and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Morton of Fond du Lac.

The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Merion and a lifelong resident of Stevens Point. He is now employed at the Bakoli factory on North Third street. His bride, a remarkably attractive young woman, is the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Nowak and for the past three years has filled the position of bookkeeper at Finch's plumbing shop. They will make their home for the present at 611 Franklin street. The numerous wedding gifts attest to the popularity of this young couple.

TRIO OF LOCAL MEN SAIL SOON TO VISIT EUROPE

One Goes to Native Home in Poland and May Remain There Permanently

The American Line steamer Minnekahda, which sails from New York harbor next Thursday, Sept. 7, will have aboard three Stevens Point citizens, G. W. Hein, Teofil Krutza and John Kalke, all to disembark at Hamburg, Germany, from where they will go to different parts of Europe.

The trio left here Sunday night for the east and will have an opportunity to see many interesting places in New York city before starting on the sea voyage.

Hein Going to Berlin

Immediately after reaching Hamburg, Mr. Hein will take a train for Berlin, Germany, to be the guest of friends with whom he has corresponded ever since he came to America in April, 1882, a few months more than 40 years ago. With Berlin as headquarters he will make side trips to numerous other places, including Oberammergau, Bavaria, to witness the world famous Passion Play. Although he has few if any near relatives now living in the Fatherland, Mr. Hein has numerous friends and acquaintances in different parts of the republic and hopes to meet many of them. His return journey will start the latter part of October or early in November.

Mr. Kalke, who is a well known local stonemason, also expects to enjoy a vacation of several months among childhood scenes in Germany, going directly from Hamburg to Breslau, at and near where he has numerous relatives.

May Remain in Poland

Mr. Krutza returns to his native home in Poland, a town named Delowice Stazyca, province of Pomerania, and which until recently was a portion of the German monarchy. A sister lives in Delowice, as do also numerous nephews and nieces. Mr. Krutza expects to spend the winter there and if conditions are found to his liking he may remain permanently. For the past several months he has conducted a tailoring shop in the Rothman block on Main street but disposed of his business this week to Martin Kurzewski, recently of Ashtland.

Mr. Krutza arrived in Stevens Point June 13, 1880, coming here almost directly from Poland, and with the exception of a few years in Chicago he had lived here continuously since, a period of 42 years. Mr. Krutza was one of the founders of the local Polish weekly, The Rohnik, and retained an active interest in the paper's publication for two years. With the exception of this short experience in newspaper work, he devoted his efforts wholly to tailoring. He is 68 years of age.

Fred Sustins had been at Rhinelander several times within the past few weeks and while it was known that his brother's condition was serious, his death at this time came unexpectedly. He was unmarried. He lived in Stevens Point some years ago and will be kindly remembered by many here.

RAILROAD NIGHTMARE HAUNTS FOND DU LAC

Business Slump Follows Announcement of Plans to Remove the Shops

"A strike-born nightmare of falling real estate values and slackening business is haunting the sleep of real estate and business men of Fond du Lac as the result of an intimation by officials of the Soo line and the Chicago and North Western railroad that, because of the attitude of the community toward the roads during the shopmen's strike, they will move a large portion of their work to other cities, not temporarily, but permanently," says a Milwaukee Sunday newspaper.

The story, which appeared under a Fond du Lac date-line, continues as follows:

The first public information of the contemplated change came when Soo line officials announced that three carloads of machinery were being moved from the shops at North Fond du Lac to Waukegan, where a former shop was being reopened. This first hint was amplified in later statements by railroad officials.

"We are getting no cooperation whatever in Fond du Lac," B. N. Lewis, superintendent of the mechanical division of the Soo line, declared. "We cannot buy in the stores in this city. The officials of the railroad are beginning to feel that Fond du Lac does not want the shops and we can just as readily have our work done elsewhere."

The storm which has broken now has been brewing since the first days of the shopmen's strike. Although no open action was taken, business men were given to understand that for them to sell to the railroads or to strike breakers would result in a boycott. So serious did the situation become that some merchants were forced to publish advertisements stating that they had not sold goods to the railroads and did not intend to.

"I could not even buy a loaf of bread in Fond du Lac," says C. M. Winter, superintendent for the Soo road here. "I went into one bakery where they did not know me and ordered a dozen loaves of bread on one occasion. I had to step out for a moment and when I came back something had happened. They refused to let me have the bread."

"It looks like Fond du Lac was tired of having the shops here," is their reply to questions as to their plans, and the business men of the city are lying awake nights trying to figure just what will happen if the roads move their shops away.

Last November the Soo line payroll at North Fond du Lac was $23,646. By June of this year the payroll had been increased to more than $120,000, for the North Fond du Lac shops handled 55 per cent of all the maintenance and repairs for the Chicago division of the system. If a majority portion of this revenue were cut off by the removal of the shops the entire community would be seriously affected.

Real estate particularly has already felt the effects of the railroad announcements. One dealer declared Thursday that on the day the first intimation of the road's action was published three sales fell through because of the fear of a slump. It is also reported that several contractors have had contracts for homes held up.

Consequently business men are at loss to know just what to do. If they trade with the roads the railroad element, a very large proportion of the city's population, will boycott them. If they do not sell to the roads, there apparently is a distinct possibility that they will lose a big business."

FARMER AND BABY THROWN FROM BUGGY

Escape Injuries in Noon Accident on Main Street When Vehicle is Tipped Over

Thrown to the pavement on Main street from a buggy in which they had been seated, Tim Ebacher of Linwood and his little three year old son had a remarkable escape from injuries at noon Saturday.

The accident occurred just east of the Masonic temple. Mr. Ebacher's horse and buggy were parked on the right side of the street, facing east, when a horse and buggy just behind them suddenly started up. The vehicle caught a rear wheel of Mr. Ebacher's buggy and in a second both occupants were spilled out as it was tipped over.

Fortunately, the man and his child escaped injuries, and little damage was done to the buggy. A box of groceries was also spilled out on the pavement.

The name of the owner of the horse and vehicle which caused the accident was not learned.

Three tons were loaded on one rack on the Kitowski farm Tuesday morning by Mr. Kitowski and Frank Lang, and brought nine miles to the city without spilling.

According to Mr. Kitowski, a load of a ton and a half or two tons is considered large for one rack. With three tons on the trip was made slowly and with great care. The hay was piled high on the rack and bulged well over the sides. Extreme care was used by Mr. Kitowski and Mr. Lang in loading the hay, so that it would stay on.

The load was sold to Reading and Neumann in Stevens Point at $12 a ton.

PAPERS OF STATE PLAYED BY EVJUE IN HOLIDAY TALK

Editor of Madison Capital Times Says
Wisconsin Valley Publications are Controlled by Capital

William J. Evjue, editor of the Capital Times at Madison, arraigned Wisconsin newspapers for alleged suppression of news and for their alleged control by capitalists in a speech at the court house square on Monday evening.

He spoke "from a newspaperman's viewpoint," and besides telling what he termed the "inside facts" in the case, he defended Senator Robert M. La Follette's war record, and urged his nomination for the senatorship in the primary today.

Mr. Evjue, in his talk, referred on several instances to Wisconsin valley papers, mentioning the Merrill Daily Herald, the Wausau Record-Herald and the Wisconsin Rapids Tribune as controlled by capital. He made no such charge in referring to the Stevens Point Journal, saying only that he "didn't know anything about the local paper."

News, he said, which interfered with the ideas or with the businesses of capitalists, is suppressed by the papers of Wisconsin, with few exceptions. "Do not get the idea," he said, "that I am 'going after' the owners of these papers. In most cases they are owned by young men, who have invested every cent they have in the world in their papers. These men, perhaps, have wives and children dependent on them for support. When the capitalists come after them, and threaten them with tightened credit at the banks, when advertising contracts are threatened, it is no wonder that they take the easiest way. Then I am not condemning; it is the system, which makes matters so, which I abhor."

Senator La Follette did not get a square deal on his war record, declared Mr. Evjue. The newspapers of Wisconsin printed the story of his St. Paul speech which was afterwards admitted to be erroneous, but when the Associated Press sent out the dispatches making the retraction, some of them, which he mentioned, did not print the retraction.

The profits of the Consolidated Water Power and Paper company were read by Mr. Evjue in an attack on this corporation. "In 1915 they were $135,492; 1916, $698,483; 1917, $905,643; 1918, $550,000; 1919, $568,329; in 1920, $1,665,720," said Mr. Evjue, "and they told me at Wisconsin Rapids this afternoon that I missed a couple of millions."

"How much income tax did they pay," asked J. Roe Pfiffer, candidate for the Democratic nomination for lieutenant-governor in the primary, who was standing in the crowd.

"I was just getting to that," Evjue replied. "Those profits are over and above the income tax reported to the state and federal governments."

"What did the Harding administration do about the income tax?" questioned Mr. Pfiffer, who answered his own question by saying, "They reduced them."

"Are you still a Democrat, Joe?" asked Evjue.

"You bet," said Mr. Pfiffer.

"Well, you can't pick any argument with me on the Harding administration. You know, you Democrats here ought to pay part of my expenses up here to make this speech, because it's a pretty good Democratic speech, isn't it?" Mr. Evjue said with a laugh.

In his talk, the Madison editor flayed the prohibition law, because, he said, it allowed the rich to become as "mellowed" as they wished with wine at fashionable dinners without interference, but it threw into the "chose-gow" the "poor devil" who took too many drinks of moonshine "aboard."

The speaker was introduced by James G. Vennie, chairman of the Portage county Progressive club, one hundred and fifty heard the talk.
